TO BREEDERS OF STOCK, AND SHIPPERS OF CATTLE TO INDIA.

MESSRS. MACKENZIE, LYALL, AND CO., of the Exchange, Calcutta, have the pleasure to announce to Breeders of Stock, and Shippers of Cattle for India, that they have established as a branch of their business, a Horse Repository for the public and private sale of Horses, which being conducted on a system entirely new in Calcutta, has met with the greatest success and encouragement.

Their plan combining the advantages of an Agency with an Auctioneering business, renders it peculiarly adapted to Exporters of Horses for Calcutta; and its advantages (such as no other establishment in Calcutta can offer) may be thus stated:—

1. Parties consigning horses will have them well cared for.

2. Horses immediately on their arrival, will be carefully landed by experienced grooms, and taken to the spacious premises of the repository, when the best attention and care would be taken to bring them into condition fit for offering at public auction.

3. The Horses, if not sold immediately, remain at comparatively little expense, and receive the best veterinary and professional attendance without cost.

4. The Horses remaining continually on show at the Repository, stand a better and earlier chance of sale than under the system hitherto pursued. Remittances in part would be made immediately on the horses being landed and valued, either in treasury drafts or in produce, as directed.

Mackenzie, Lyall, and Co.'s charge for commission on sale is eight per cent.; for standing at livery, thirty shillings per month; for landing in commodious boats, eight shillings each horse.

The respectability of our firm will be attested by the Indian residents in the Australasian Colonies, and for detailed particulars regarding the description of horses best adapted for the Bengal Presidency, we refer to Messrs. Smith and Campbell. 6771

TO WOOLGROWERS.

MESSRS. J. and W. BYRNES beg to intimate that they are the only parties interested in the conveyance of wool to Sydney, who are capable of affording storage in Parramatta, previous to shipment, and that they will undertake to convey wool (from their old established Steam-boat Stores) to any ship or wharf in Sydney, at the very low price of One Shilling per Bale, and every facility will be given, should the owners require it, in exhibiting their wool for sale at Kellick's Wharf, Sussex street, free of any charge whatever.

Return stores taken up at equally low rates, by their favourite steam-packet Native. 6995

COLOURED DAGUERREOTYPES!!!

49, HUNTER-STREET,
(Two doors from O'Connell-street.)

MR. G. B. GOODMAN has great pleasure to announce to the public, that he has just received from the Patentee in England, the new process, lately discovered, of colouring the Daguérréotype Portraits, and having already executed some very beautiful likenesses in this style, he will be happy to submit them to the inspection of those who will favour him with a visit.

It may be as well for general information to observe, that these Portraits are taken almost instantaneously, and produce as faithful a representation of the face and figure as is presented by standing opposite a mirror, being in fact the reflection itself fixed permanently in the glass or polished surface, thus producing in effect a "Second Self."

The pictures effected by this art are superior to the finest engravings for delicacy of shadowing and minuteness of delineation, and have hitherto only wanted colour to make them perfect, which grand desideratum has been at length achieved, and Mr. G. B. Goodman hastens to apprise the public of this most important addition.

On account of the depression of the times, the price will still be limited to one guinea for the coloured likenesses, including a handsome gilt and morocco case.

Specimens to be seen at Mr. Isaac Levey's, Draper, George-street, and Mr. Aldis's, Tobacconist; Mr. Barlow's Lithographic Establishment, Bridge-street; and the Bank of Australia.

To CAPITALISTS and the industrious LABOURING CLASS.

PORT ALBERT, GIPPS LAND.

AN accurate Plan of Mr. Reeve's Special Survey of Tara Vale having been recently completed,—Notice is hereby given, that Farms of various sizes are now open for Sale, or on Lease for a term of years.

The proprietor, chiefly desirous to establish a respectable tenantry, will let these farms at the moderate rent of one bushel of wheat per acre.

This estate of 5120 acres consists entirely of rich alluvial flats, lightly timbered with blackwood, hickory, and wattle, covered with a thick sward of grass and abundance of herbage; there is also convenient building timber at a short distance. The frequent sea-coast showers, combined with the low level of the land, and the absence of injurious frosts and hot winds, together with its sheltered position, render this locality one of the few in New South Wales where agricultural results may be considered certain, and, even at the present unusually low prices, remunerative to the settler.

Tara Vale is bounded by the navigable tide water of Port Albert, other portions by the never-failing fresh water stream of the Tara, from which no part of the estate is more than two miles distant. Wells have been sunk in different parts of this special survey, and an abundance of good water obtained at the depth of eighteen feet.

Port Albert is situated between the principal commercial towns of New South Wales and Van Diemen's Land, with all which it has for the last three years carried on a considerable shipping trade, now amounting to more than 3000 tons annually; and the character of the port may be estimated from the fact that no loss has ever been sustained there.

Some portions of the special survey are let, and many families and persons already occupy purchased allotments in the immediate vicinity of the landing place and township of Tara Ville, which, although adjacent to the intended Government township of Alberton, is far more conveniently situated. There is a licensed Hotel, good Stores (whence all supplies may be obtained at a trifling advance on Hobarton prices), and various tradesmen, such as brickmakers, blacksmith, wheelwright, &c.: likewise, dray roads from Monero, and Port Phillip.

Further information may be obtained on application (if by letter, post paid,) to F. Taylor, Tara Ville, Port Albert; or to Thomas Smith and Co., George-street, Sydney. 6980

TO WATCHMAKERS, WORKERS IN IVORY, AND AMATEURS IN TURNING.

FOR SALE by the undersigned,—A most perfect TURNING LATHE.

It has a metal foot wheel, with eight motions, and eccentric chuck and slide-rest, drill slide, and improved drill frame. There are a variety of brass chucks, drill stocks, and screw tools, and all drills and tools requisite for engine turning. The lathe is capable of performing the most minute work, and is at the same time strong enough for heavy work, having been used for turning metal sixteen inches in diameter, having eight-inch centres, and the mandrills running in double collars before and behind, being in fact the best lathe in the colony.

CARSON'S PATENT INSTRUMENT FOR SALTING AND CURING MEAT.

THIS INSTRUMENT offers to the public in every clime the incalculable advantage of salting any quantity of meat thoroughly and instantaneously, thus overcoming the difficulty that attends that process generally, and particularly in tropical climates, as the inside of the joint becomes putrid before the salt applied to the surface can possibly reach it. Every housekeeper will find a most convenient and valuable assistant in this useful instrument. The degree of saltness can also be regulated, for as the whole of the meat is at once cured, (the brine being forced by a pressure equal to five hundred to two thousand pounds upon a square inch into every part of it,) only half the usual quantity of salt is necessary, and the excess of it, which renders meat unpleasant and unwholesome, will be avoided, and the nutritious properties more fully preserved and retained.

The heads of large establishments will find this instrument very advantageous

Settlers and innkeepers will be much benefitted by the use of it, as the loss from tainted meat will be avoided.

But hers are also particularly interested in the use of the instrument, as a little experience will satisfacterily prove.

A few of the above instruments on sale at
A. FOSS'S,
7577 313, Pitt-street North.

TO THE MERCHANTS AND OIL SHIPPERS OF SYDNEY.

THE undersigned most respectfully begs leave to announce, for general information, that he left England at the suggestion of Messrs. Deacon and Wilson, Oil Coopers, &c., Dock Head, in 1832, and at their instance obtained letters of recommendation from the firms of Messrs. John Gore and Co., 16, Lawrence Pountney Lane, and Messrs. Buckles, Baxter, and Buckles, 23, Mark Lane, London, and was subsequently appointed by Mr. James Richardson, 72, Cornhill, to proceed to Sydney to succeed Mr. Thomas Smith, as Cooper; but on his arrival at Hobart Town, he was induced by his brother to remain there, and continued in Hobart Town four years and a half, and whilst there lost or mislaid the said letters of recommendation; but he can appeal to those gentlemen by whom he has been employed in fitting out vessels and shipping oil as to his competency.

The undersigned is induced to make this public statement, in consequence of reports having been circulated by interested parties to his prejudice.

FOR SALE,

BY PRIVATE CONTRACT,

THAT much admired Orangery and Orchard, known as the "ECHO FARM," and situated on the romantic waters of Middle Harbour.

The Farm consists of twenty acres, all well and securely fenced in; and being bounded on one side by a fresh water creek, possesses the advantage of a never-failing supply of the purest water; it is bounded on another side by the waters of Middle Harbour. There is on it a good substantial weather-boarded House of seven rooms, two-stalled stable, men's huts, fowl houses, &c.

There are also (independent of numerous other fruit trees) about two hundred orange trees, the greater part now in full bearing; on the water side is likewise a vein of good coal.

The Farm, by land from Milsom's Wharf, is about seven miles distant, and by water is computed at twelve miles. Adjoining the Farm is a very extensive run for cattle. The present proprietor flatters himself that he has most effectually done away with the great and only objection hitherto taken to this Farm, he having succeeded in constructing a good carriage road from the former stoppage to the House.

The Farm may be viewed at any time, and further particulars obtained from Dreadful Storm and Loss of Life.—On Sunday last, our port was visited by the severest storm ever witnessed by the oldest settler, the wind from the S.E., the only point from which it could possibly have done any damage, and which increased in violence until 7 o'clock, P.M., at which time the Elizabeth, which, being a stranger, had taken up her position somewhat beyond the proper anchorage, began to drift; but although close upon a small reef which runs out a short distance from the shore, Captain Tipley, her commander, with great presence of mind and dexterity, put her under her mainsail, and by steering clear of the danger saved the lives of his passengers and crew, all of whom must have perished had the vessel struck It being totally impossible to get to sea, there was no alternative but to beach her, and she fortunately went on shore at the best part of the coast, in consequence of which the passengers' luggage and almost every other thing of any value was got out of the cabin on Monday. About the time the Elizabeth began to drift, the Sally Ann, which had just discharged her inward cargo, and not shipped her outward, parted from one of her anchors, and, the storm being then at its height, the remaining chain was unable to hold her, and she also went on shore, about two cables' lengths from the Elizabeth, and, the place being rocky, almost immediately went to pieces. As soon as she grounded, the captain and crew got safely off, and were thus enabled to save the lives of the crew and passengers of the Elizabeth, which, drawing a greater depth of water, had struck further out. About one o'clock on Monday, it being necessary to hold a survey upon the vessels, a boat put off to the Minerva for Captain Fawthrop, and after remaining alongside a time, again returned with that gentleman; but when about eighty yards from the shore she was struck astern by a tremendous sea, which raised her nearly perpendicular, and the captain and men were all thrown out in the foaming surf. The boat shortly after turned completely over, and it was supposed that some had been covered by her and drowned. This, however, fortunately, proved a mistake, as they were all in the course of about two minutes seen, some endeavouring to make their way through the surf, two clinging to the keel of the boat, and one to the steer oar. Mr. Finn, our active chief constable, being an excellent swimmer, immediately rushed in to their assistance, and succeeded in getting hold of Mr. George Osbourne just in time to save him from a watery grave, and, who instantly fainted in the arms of his deliverer Having handed him to some others who were then exerting themselves to the uttermost, Mr. Finn again ventured farther out, and was fortunate enough to get hold of Captain Fawthrop, who, having on a very heavy coat and boots, was unable to make much progress, and who, perhaps without assistance, never could have reached the shore alive. Milligan, the boatman of the port, and who was steering the boat, was seen by Mr. Finn some short distance from Captain Fawthrop, further out, but when Mr. Finn returned to look for him, after saving Captain Fawthrop, he was no where to be seen, about five o'clock his lifeless body was washed ashore. One of the two men, George Mimmo, a seaman of the Sally Ann, who had clung to the keel of the boat, and who was unable to swim, became so exhausted as to be unable to retain his hold, and dropping from the side of his mate, sunk, and was drowned; his body was also washed ashore close to where Milligan's was found, and in about twenty minutes after. The other man, an Italian, also seaman of the Sally Ann, named Antonio Maunmouro, having sufficient presence of mind, managed to relieve himself of all his clothes excepting his shirt, and when his mate sunk, whom he had previously done his utmost to assist and save him, let go his hold of the boat and struck out for shore; he was met about half way by Mr. Padfield, who swam to his relief, and it is scarcely necessary to say he was so exhausted, that he could not have struggled much longer, the surf having incessantly been washing over him the whole time he was clinging by the boat, which was fifteen or twenty minutes. There being no Coroner for the district, the Police Magistrate held an inquiry upon the bodies of Milligan and Nimmo yesterday, and they will be interred in the new burial ground to-day. The Elizabeth belonged to Mr Joseph Smith, Adelaide, and was not insured; she may not be much injured. The Sally Ann, as is generally known, belonged to the Messrs. Henty, and was insured. Captain Rosevear and his men have lost nearly all. The Minerva and the Mary rode out the gale in safety, the former with only her second best anchor and a kedge, and the latter with only one anchor and twenty-eight fathoms of chain. —Portland Gazette.

The Sovereign has brought 130 bales wool from Moreton Bay, and a considerable quantity is lying there until her next trip. The schooner William arrived at the Bay on the 3rd instant, and left the township again on Friday last for Sydney. The schooner Jane was lying inside the bar waiting an opportunity to come on to Sydney. The Sovereign has had a fine run, having left on the evening of Friday last; she saw a schooner on Saturday evening off Port Stephens, standing to the northward.

The Mary White arrived at Port Phillip from Adelaide on the 30th ultimo, and would commence loading forthwith for England.

THE GOVERNOR'S VIEWS ON THE OPERATION OF THE SCHEDULES.

The subjoined memorandum, which we have it in our power to place before the public as an authentic document circulated among the Government officers having seats in the Council, will doubtless surprise our readers as much as it has surprised us. The views here declared by the Head of the Government on the much-contested question of the powers and rights of the Legislative Council under the Parliamentary Schedules, are so different from those which have been usually supposed, that we can for the present only express our regret, and also our unfeigned surprise, that on a point of such critical importance the public should have been left so long in the dark. We shall of course revert to the subject.

Memorandum, 25th October, 1843, respecting the Schedules (A. and B.) attached to the 5th and 6th Victoria, c. 76.

The Council has affirmed "that if called upon to vote more for any particular service than is appropriated thereto in the schedules, it has, and ought to have, power to fix the amount to be appropriated to every detail of such service, except such as may be specifically provided for in such schedule."

The only services specifically provided for by Schedule A, are the salaries of the Governor, the Superintendent of Port Phillip, and the Judges, consequently the Council, by the above Resolution assumes to itself the right, under existing circumstances, of fixing the sum to be appropriated to every other service, or in other words, to appropriate the whole of the money named in the Schedule, with the exception of £13,000, and the question at issue is whether the claim can be supported by the clauses in the Act which relate to the Schedules? These clauses are the 37th and 38th.

Clause 37 expressly states, that out of the said revenue fund, (that is to say, the fund arising out of the taxes, duties, rates, and imposts,) there shall be payable every year to Her Majesty, her heirs, and successors, for defraying the expenses of the several services, and purposes in the Schedule marked A, the sum of £33,000; and lower down in the same clause, it is said that such sum of £33,000 shall be issued by the Treasurer of the said colony in discharge of such warrant or warrants as shall be from time to time directed to him by the Governor of the said colony. Everything in this clause is distinct and plain—there is nothing in it conditional, ambiguous, or obscure, and certainly (as far as I can see), nothing in it to justify the claim of the Council to appropriate any part of the £33,000, the whole of which is expressly granted to the Queen, and is to be expended by the Governor acting under the orders of Her Majesty.

The succeeding or 38th clause directs that an account in detail of the expenditure of the sums granted by schedule A shall be laid before the Council, after they have been expended; as little therefore can I see anything in this clause to support the claim of the Council to fix by previous enactment the manner in which they shall be expended.

I do not, however, on this account mean to say that the Council has no right to enquire into the way in which the money is expended, and to exercise by the expression of their opinion even a very extensive control over the expenditure of it.

Had the Council worded its resolution in the following manner, no objection to it would have been raised by me: "Resolved, that whenever this Council is called on to vote any sum of money in excess of any one of the schedules, it will before proceeding to vote such money, strictly enquire into the manner in which the sums secured to the Government by such schedules, have been or are intended to be expended, and the Council will vote no larger sum in excess of any such schedule than may appear to the Council to be necessary, after such reductions shall have been made in the items charged on the schedule, as in the opinion of the Council may be effected consistently with the good faith of the Government, and the efficiency of the public service."

A resolution of this nature would have been perfectly in accordance with the views developed in the second, no less than in the first of my financial messages to the Council: in accordance, also, with all that is maintained in the present paper.

The Council has drawn a distinction between such services as are specifically provided for by the schedules, and such as are not. And it may be assumed that by services salaries are signified. That there is a distinction between salaries which are specified in the schedules, and those which are not, is quite clear; but the nature of the distinction has not, I think, been correctly perceived by the Council. The real distinction seems to me to be, that whilst Her Majesty can, of her own sole authority, reduce or increase the salaries which are not charged specifically on the schedules, Her Majesty cannot, of her own sole authority, increase or diminish salaries which are specifically fixed by the schedules.

Speaking with all possible respect, I would say that it is not within the power of the Queen to reduce the salaries of the Governor, the Judges, or the Superintendent, of her own sole authority. Her Majesty may change a Governor or dismiss a Judge, but the successor (if she appoint one) of such Judge or Governor will be by law entitled to the same salary as that which was enjoyed by his predecessor.

The way in which the salary of a Governor or a Judge may be altered is pointed out in the Act (sec. 38), but is not by Her Majesty's sole authority.

In respect therefore to the disposal of the first £13,000 of schedule A, Her Majesty's power is not unlimited; but in respect to the remaining £20,000, her power is by law unlimited, so long as Her Majesty appropriates no part of it to any other purpose than one connected with the administration of justice. Her Majesty cannot of her sole authority take £1000 from the salary of the Governor, or even from that of his successor, and divide it amongst the Judges; but if the present Attorney-General were to die or vacate office, the Queen might of Her own sole authority appoint a successor with a salary of only £1000 a year instead of £1200, and divide the £200 which would be saved, among the tipstaffs of the Judges.

But though Her Majesty's power over the appropriation of the £20,000 secured for the administration of justice is thus complete and absolute by law, it is very far from my intention to maintain that it is unlimited in practice. Even were the sum of £20,000 sufficient to meet all the expenses incidental to the administration of justice, it would still be quite competent to the Council, after knowing how the money had been spent, to point out by a respectful address to her Majesty, anything which might appear to the Council to involve an extravagant expenditure or a misapplication of any part of the money; and it is not to be doubted, that any such respectful address would receive Her Majesty's consideration; and still stronger is the case, when in consequence of the insufficiency of the sum (£20,000) the Governor is compelled to go to the Council in Her Majesty's name, and ask for an addition to it. The Council, before it grant such addition, may most justly enquire into the way which the original sum is intended to be expended. And thus the Council acquires an indirect control over the expenditure of the whole money—a control which, though indirect, must be very extensive, and which will, in practice, be found to have scarcely any other limit than that which is imposed on her Majesty by the obligation of keeping inviolate her faith with those to whom it has been pledged—an obligation from which, so long as she is supported by her Parliament, no power on earth can compel her to recede. I stated in my first financial minute, that whenever a supplementary grant was asked for, the control of the Council over the schedules was, for all practical purposes, as great as if the schedules had not been passed. I did not then think it necessary to say, that to compel her Majesty to break her faith was impracticable, was impossible.

But even supposing (which I however do not admit) that in my first financial minute I placed the schedule A too unreservedly under the control of the Council, was it, I may ask, generous, was it noble minded, was it just, to take advantage of the confidence which I reposed in the Council, to endeavour to bring me in as a party to a breach of faith?

If it be said that it is not the faith of her Majesty, but that of her minister, which is pledged to Mr. Milford, or Mr. Gregory, I reply that I know of no distinction: the most solemn engagements with foreign powers are made by her Majesty's ministers, not by her Majesty in person; but no one on that account has ever doubted that her Majesty's faith, and the faith of the nation is pledged to the observance of them. It is quite true that the Council failing to compel me to break faith with the gentlemen whom I have just named, may refuse to vote any sum in addition to schedule A, and thus cramp or impede the administration of justice to an extent greatly injurious to the colony: to an extent, indeed, so great as to compel Her Majesty's ministers, for the benefit of the colony, to have recourse to Parliament; but would it not be lamentable, would it not be humiliating, if in the first session of a Council which owes its existence to an Act of the British Parliament, introduced by Her Majesty's present ministers, and passed without opposition, a case were to arise such as the one contemplated?—If it should arise, too, out of a question involving only a consideration of £350 a year? But it may be asked of me why, the consideration being so small, do I magnify it into one of so great importance? To which I reply, that whilst to the Council, and to the colony, it is a consideration of only £350 a year, it is to me a consideration of whether or not I will maintain the good faith of Her Majesty, or of Her Majesty's Government—it is to me a question whether or not I will uphold, what I, in my conscience, believe to be an important right of the Crown.

The Judicial Estimate.—We hasten to correct an error, in our article of Saturday on 'The Collision between the Council and the Government,' into which we were led by the wording of the address brought up by the Select Committee. We there say, that in the Estimate submitted at the commencement of the present session, "the proposed appropriation of the £20,000 was stated, not in detail, but in gross, the supplementary sums alone being set forth item by item." We find by the Colonial Secretary's speech on Friday night, as reported in our paper of Saturday, that the Estimate itself was framed in the usual detailed form; and that the novelty imputed to the Estimate occurred in the mode in which the Colonial Treasurer moved that the sum should be voted—namely, not item by item, but in gross.

WOOL SALES.

The sales of colonial wool began on the 16th July, and ended this day. They consisted of—

13,971	bags	Australian
6,937	,,	Van Diemen's Land
4,854	,,	Port Phillip
186	,,	Swan River
186	,,	South Australian
2,750	,,	Cape of Good Hope
80	,,	New Zealand
452	,,	East India
29,416
375	,,	German
287	,,	Spanish
83	,,	Odessa
1,197	,,	Sundry other kinds of low wool
31,357	bags of wool.

This is the largest number of bags hitherto sold at one series of sales; during their progress, arrivals from the colonies have taken place to the extent of about 10,000 bags, but according to the rules hitherto acted on, and with the unanimous concurrence of the importers, they have been reserved for the next sales in September.

It might naturally have been supposed that such a quantity put up at the present, and accumulating for future sales, would have pressed heavily on the market, and injuriously affected the price; it must be remembered also that the last sales were small, and took place at a time when the stocks of wool, always low in June, were completely exhausted, and that extreme prices were given in consequence. We confess, therefore, that we felt some anxiety as to the result, which, however, has been highly satisfactorily, and must be most gratifying to all who are interested in the prosperity of our Australian colonies; from the first sale to the last of the present series, the demand has been eager, and the competition has never flagged, at prices in no cases under, and in some (lambs' wool and pieces for instance) rather higher than were realized in June. This must be attributed to the very great improvement that has been gradually taking place in the woollen trade, but particularly of late in the demand for goods for the home market. The stocks in the hands of the manufacturers, factors, and retailers, had become entirely absorbed, and now that the prospect of a good harvest is all but certain, the orders for goods are unprecedented, and the manufacturers are not only fully employed, but doing a better and safer business than they have for many years past. The entire absence of all speculation, the purchases being generally made to supply immediate wants, renders it probable that the present prices will be supported at the next sales.

LOUGHNAN AND HUGHES,
Wool-brokers.

78, Basinghall-street, London,
August 7, 1844.

The present series having commenced, further considerable parcels, (about 10,600 bales,) arrived during their continuance, and were as usual, held over until the next sales.

The sales concluded this day, and we take the earliest opportunity of giving a correct report of the actual result in the annexed price current, to which we beg to refer; and, notwithstanding the quantity brought forward the whole met with very ready purchasers throughout at prices fully supporting those of the last London sales.

The active demand which exists for all kinds of manufactured goods, together with the prospects of the harvest, have given an impetus to prices for all descriptions of wool; whilst the large supplies of the raw material has prevented them from ranging beyond reasonable rates; and it is confidently expected that a steady market will continue.

The wool from New South Wales shows for the most part, the advantages of a favourable season in the washing and getting up; and this remark applies more particularly to some of the Port Phillip flocks; there are, however, many exceptions, and some flocks of superior quality have in such instances suffered in price, although not in so great a degree as would have been the case in a less favourable state of market.

Lambs' wool was more especially in request, and for superior qualities, very high prices were obtained

Cape wool continues to be much in request, and a few lots of superior quality and condition realised very high prices.

East India wool met with ready purchasers at former rates.

SOUTH AUSTRALIA.

(From the Portland Guardian.)

Although the Elizabeth brings no mail for this place, yet from the information with which we have been politely favoured by Captain Tippley and the passengers, and from the Register of the 6th instant, which we have also obtained from these gentlemen, we are enabled to furnish our readers with the following particulars:—

Mr. Darke's exploring party arrived in Adelaide on the morning of the day on which the Elizabeth sailed, and reported the unfortunate death of their leader at the hands of the natives. The following account of the murder may be relied upon as strictly correct, having been kindly given us by a gentleman to whom one of Mr. Darke's party communicated it:—

Mr. Darke, who conducted the exploring expedition in the Port Lincoln district, had completed the objects of his mission most successfully, and was on the point of returning; he and his party had been short of water and had been supplied by some natives with whom they were on very friendly terms. One morning Mr. Darke walked a very few yards from the camp without arms, and saw a native watching him from behind a bush. He immediately called out to his men, who ran towards him just in time to see several spears thrown at him, three of which took effect. The natives immediately ran, and some shots were fired, but the result is not known. Mr. Darke died two days after. The men who were with him appear confident that the murderers were the men who supplied the party with water and had been very liberally rewarded.

From the following article from the Register of the 6th instant, it will be seen that the report of a dreadful massacre was without foundation:—The affair of the massacre, reported in some of our former numbers, turns out to be nothing more than some apocryphal version of Major Mitchell's visit to that spot some eight or ten years ago, mixed up in all probability with some attack or other on some party of squatters, who have passed the New South Wales boundaries, and the unnecessary alarm, which has been raised on the subject, is said to have arisen from a misapprehension of the meaning of the natives, owing to the entire ignorance of their language.

Captain Sturt was following up the Darling, and speaks of the extent and quality of the soil in the highest terms. A discovery had been made from some ranges near, of an immense body of water studded with islands, and which the discoverer presumes to be an inland sea. The party was preparing to cross the ranges for the purpose of obtaining more certain information.

A large overland party, said to number eighty or a hundred persons, with four drays, proceeding from Port Phillip to Adelaide, were seen on the 2nd instant, near the head of Lake Albert.

Some men have come up from the Jane Flaxman, who report that they have been unsuccessful in their search for Mr. Haynes and party. Near Cape Northumberland they had found the wreck of a vessel, called the Isabella, a whaler from Hobart Town, with the masts cut away, and a few miles farther on they found three whale boats. It was supposed that the crew had gone overland to Portland.—South Australian.

Inquest.—On Saturday afternoon an enquiry took place before the Coroner and a jury, in Mr. Walker's public-house, Balmain, touching the death of Matthew George Piper, aged eight months, when the following evidence was adduced: Dulcekella Piper deposed: On Friday morning the deceased caught hold of the teapot and dragged it towards him, it being then full of hot water, and before he could be prevented the contents of it fell on his chest and scalded him very severely; his screams brought his mother to his assistance, who took him up; there was no other person present but witness when the accident occurred. Mary Piper, the mother of deceased, had laid down in bed on Friday morning to take a rest, when she heard a crash and deceased scream, she sprang to the place to ascertain the cause, and found that the last witness had accidentally allowed the deceased to upset the teapot full of water on himself; on taking up the infant she found his chest all scalded; she tore the clothes off and applied oil to the neck and chest; she afterwards took him to Dr. Mackellar, who gave witness no hopes of his recovery; he expired between nine and ten o'clock on the same evening. Dr. Frederick Mackellar: Had attended deceased; he was brought to witness's house, Lower George-street, on Friday morning, being then severely scalded on the neck, face, shoulders, and chest; witness applied raw cotton to the scalds, and visited him at Balmain in the course of the day. He died from the shock the system had received from the scalding. The Jury found a verdict of died from the effects of a severe scalding accidentally received at Balmain on the 6th instant.

General Grievance Report.—In the hurry of business a mistake occurred in copying the Report of the General Grievance Committee, which appeared in Saturday's paper. The first paragraph was entirely omitted. It is correctly inserted this morning.

Public Meeting.—A public meeting takes place to-night, at 7 o'clock, in the City Theatre, to take into consideration the propriety of closing the drapery and other business establishments in the City at 7 P.M., every night throughout the year, Saturday's excepted.

Erratum.—In Saturday's Herald, under the head of Sydney markets, third line from the end, for "unshorn sheep in ill condition have been bought at 3s each;" read shorn sheep in low condition have been bought at 3s. each.

Adjourned Transfer Meeting.—A Meeting of the Magistrates takes place in the Police Office, to-morrow, at noon, in order to consider several applications.—New licenses as well as for transfers and removals of publicans' licenses, under the Licensed Victuallers Act.

Weights and Measures.—The summons list at the Police Court on Friday contained eighteen charges against seventeen defendants for having false and deficient weights in their possession, to which all the defendants pleaded guilty, and were mulct in the minimum penalty of 5s. for each weight, with 5s. costs, and the weights to be destroyed. In every case the weights appeared old cast metal weights, and had been in use for years.

Tarban Creek.—A visit to this place on Saturday enabled us to ascertain some particulars, which may be new to our readers. The Lunatic Asylum at Tarban Creek has now within its walls 144 patients, of the following classes:—Fifty-eight free, and eighteen bond, males; fifty free, and eighteen bond, females. With one or two exceptions the patients exhibit more of idiocy than any active malady; but many of them are mischievous, and were it not that they are not irritated by coercion, which is only resorted to so far as is absolutely necessary for the safety of the patients themselves, they would, in many instances, be exceedingly violent. Mr. and Mrs. Digby, who have the superintendence of the establishment, appear perfectly au fait in the matter, having had considerable experience in England. Captain Innes, by whose kindness we were favoured with the trip, appears a special favourite. Dr. Lee, the medical superintendent, also appears to possess the confidence of his patients. The building, although not so large as might be desirable for the purposes of classification, if there were a large number and varied classes of cases, affords much greater accommodation than would be imagined from a view of the exterior. The whole place is remarkable for cleanliness, and utter absence of any such noisome effluvia as is generally inseparable from such an establishment. Around the grounds attached to the establishment a very considerable quantity of fencing has been put up by the patients themselves, let out two or three at a time, under the care of keepers: a terrace is now being constructed in front of and around the building. The whole number of persons attached to the establishment as servants is seventeen, ten males (seven of whom are bond), and seven females (five of whom are bond). Notwithstanding that a visit to such an establishment must necessarily give rise to melancholy reflections, we were greatly surprised at everything connected with it.

Obstructions in the Streets.—On Saturday last a number of barrow-men, hawkers, and dealers in vegetables, were brought before Alderman Broughton, by information, for allowing their barrows, &c., to stand in the streets on the evening of Saturday, the 30th ultimo, and were fined for barrows and hand-carts each 5s., and 10s. for a horse and cart; 5s. costs was also allowed for each information.

Tallow and Beef.—Purchasers of the above articles are reminded that Mr Samuel Lyons sells, this day, at his mart, at eleven o'clock, about fifty casks of tallow, in good shipping condition, also, fifteen tierces prime Irish beef, and a variety of other articles.—Communicated.

The drapers and purchasers of dry goods are reminded that Mr. Fawcett resumes his extensive sale, this day, at eleven o'clock; in addition to which he will offer a large assortment of plain and fancy goods, very suitable for tailor purposes. Intending purchasers will do well to attend this sale, as the same opportunity may not present itself again of laying in a seasonable stock. Vide advertisement.—Communicated.

The sale of the 79 packages of oilmen's stores will take place this day, at eleven o'clock precisely, by Mr. W. H. Chapman, and will be sold in order, as advertised, by the package, commencing with the pickles.

NEWS FROM THE INTERIOR.

(From our Correspondent.)

MORETON BAY.

December 5.—The land sale at Brisbane on the 27th ultimo was numerously attended, and the biddings for the suburban allotments at South Brisbane very spirited, the land selling at the average price of £6 10s. per acre; the upset price being £3 per acre. The seventeen acres and a-half put up realised £113 odd. Only one or two lots were disposed of at North Brisbane: the upset price of an allotment, (one-fifth of an acre,) fixed at £25, is out of reason, considering that most of the land now offering for sale is out of the way of business. A more moderate rate must be placed upon it, or I fear the Treasury will benefit but little from this source.

The schooner William arrived here on the 28th ult., and is now taking in cargo for Sydney. The steamer Sovereign has a full load of wool up, and near 200 bales await shipment, much to the annoyance of those who anticipated getting their clip early to Sydney, to enable them to keep the steam up. The daily arrivals of the squatocracy from their stations, and their wool teams, has caused a more than usual stir in the township. The Victoria Hotel, under the able management of Mr. D. Bow, is now frequently filled by those who, when they meet round his social board, enjoy "the feast of reason and the flow of soul," as some little recompense for their comparative solitude in the bush.

A letter, or rather memorial, is in course of signature, and addressed to the Manager or Directors of the Hunter River Steam Navigation Company, from parties who wish by some means to cry up Kangaroo Point, in preference to other parts of the township, their object being to have the Sovereign steamer to stop at that place, without coming up to the Government Wharf. Should the Company lend themselves in a matter which is clearly to benefit a few interested individuals, who have become the purchasers of the suburban lots at the Point, it will not only be an act of injustice to the townsfolks at North and South Brisbane, but in all probability cause a portion of the carrying trade to be taken out of their hands by competition next year,—more particularly as wharves are in the course of erection at the old and established landing places at the north and south sides of the river, expressly for the Company and public accommodation.

A very heavy hail storm has visited the Bunya Bunya district, which has caused considerable destruction to that valuable native fruit known as the bunya or bread fruit, so much so that the natives of that part of the country will lose a necessary article of consumption, and a luxury which they can only avail themselves of once in three years, that being the period which elapses before this most nutritious food arrives at perfection. At the same time, I am happy to say, the blacks are and have been for some short time past, perfectly quiet, and evince a disposition to keep on good terms with their white neighbours.

Our experimental crop of tobacco promises most abundantly; from a specimen I saw at the Eagle Farm, (formerly a Government station in the vicinity of Brisbane), I have little reason to doubt but we shall be enabled to supply that article of consumption most extensively. It is a matter of no little surprise to see this tropical production growing on the same soil as the English potatoe; but such is the fact; the party who showed me the tobacco also pointed out to me a patch of land which has produced him between five and six tons of potatoes this season, and that of a most superior quality. Every day developes the capabilities of this garden of Eden; and, without exaggeration, I can safely say that no one, rich or poor, regrets making Moreton Bay their home; give us fair play and remunerating markets, and I feel assured this district will ere long be considered second to none of Her Majesty's dominions.

ORIGINAL CORRESPONDENCE.

COMMUTED PENSIONERS.

To the Editors of the Sydney Morning Herald.

Gentlemen,—As one of that brave but unfortunate class of men whose claims on the sympathy of the Government you are so humanely advocating, allow me, whilst expressing to you my warm gratitude, to state one fact, and a most material one as connected with the ungenerous conduct practised towards us, and that is, that out of the four years miserable commutation money, we had to pay the passage of ourselves and families to these shores! to which in a moment of credulity we were induced to come, for the purpose of "bettering our condition?" I had seven in family, and the balance I received at the Commissariat Office on my arrival in Sydney in August, 1832, was one pound, one, and sixpence! Thus was sacrificed the reward of my country for meritorious services—services to which in common with my brave companions in arms we were cheered on by the voice of the nation, and thanked by both houses of Parliament, and in which I received my last wound on the 30th July, 1813, in that glorious struggle on the heighths of the Pyrenees, whilst fighting in the ranks, and in the light company of that gallant regiment now under orders for these colonies, the 11th Foot, and for which I was subsequently discharged, "in consequence of lameness from an extensive wound left thigh." When I reflect on the hardships endured through incessant marching, privations of provisions, water, and rest—the gayness with which we met the enemies of our country under every vicissitude I am almost tempted, in imagination, to fight our battles over again, and to exclaim with the inimitable Scott—

His jest whilst each blythe comrade round him flung,
And march'd to death with military glee.

But the delusion vanishes, and I ask myself the question, has the country in whose cause, and for whose weal, I have stood the brunt of the battle—the memorials of which I bear about in my shattered person,—has that country cast me off in my old age; and can that country be England—England, who affords shelter and asylum to the exiled Pole and Spaniard? Alas! the answer is a mournful affirmative.

In repeating my sincere gratitude for your humane and generous advocacy to our worn-out and neglected class,

Believe me, gentlemen,
Yours, respectfully,
A COMMUTED PENSIONER.

EARLY CLOSING OF SHOPS.

To the Editors of the Sydney Morning Herald.

Gentlemen,—As the meeting at the City Theatre on Monday next will be one of great importance to the assistant drapers and others I would suggest through your widely circulated journal that the proprietors of drapery and other establishments should close their houses of business early on that evening, in order to give their assistants an opportunity of being present at the meeting, in the results of which they are so much interested.

I have the honour to be, gentlemen,
Your most obedient servant,
UNUS.

Sydney, December 7.

Military Anecdote.—Lieutenant-Colonel Brown commanded the 28th at Barossa. He was said to have purposely allowed his regiment to be surrounded. Most officers would have felt nervous in such a situation; but it was reported that Brown addressed his men thus:—"Twenty-eighth, what confounded lucky fellows you are! This day you must be either extinguished or distinguished! Do as you like!" The 28th took their colonel at his word; the rear rank faced to the right about, and repulsed the enemy. And now the 28th wear the number of the regiment both in front and back of their shakos.

Fines, the most Terrifying of Penalties.—The Lyonnese character is illustrated by Alexander Dumas, in his "Travelling Impressions," by a whimsical incident. A railroad passes through a very narrow tunnel, and to prevent accidents a placard was put up, declaring, "it is forbidden to pass under this archway under pain of being crushed by the carriages." Not a soul paid the least attention to the warning. A second proclamation declared, "It is forbidden to pass under this archway under pain of being fined. Thenceforward the tunnel was as deserted as Hyde-park in a hail storm.

1. That the thanks of this meeting be given to the Rev. Mr. Baly intends for the present to limit his number to thirty young gentlemen, an arrangement by which he will be enabled to bestow that attention upon each pupil so necessary to ensure progress in any branch of study, and to avoid the injudicious practice which has been resorted to in some schools of employing one boy, perhaps the most ignorant in the class, to undertake duties which can alone be adequately and honestly discharged by a competent master.

COUNCIL PAPER.

REPORT OF COMMITTEE ON GRIEVANCES NOT CONNECTED WITH THE LANDS OF THE COLONY.

The Select Committee appointed to enquire into and report upon the grievances not connected with the lands of the colony, with an instruction to distinguish between those which can be remedied in the colony and those which cannot, having had certain resolutions, moved by Mr. J. Phelps Robinson, on the 30th of August last, specially referred to them, with instructions that they prepare and submit, for the consideration of the Council, an address to Her Majesty, and petitions to both Houses of the British Parliament, on the subject of them, have agreed to the subjoined address, which they recommend to the Council for its adoption.

This address, with a few unimportant alterations in the heading, &c., so as to suit it to the style and address of the Lords and Commons, will serve also for petitions to both Houses of Parliament.

W. C. WENTWORTH,
Chairman.

Legislative Council Chambers, December 6.

To the Queen's Most Excellent Majesty.

Most Gracious Sovereign,—

We your Majesty's loyal and dutiful subjects the members of the Legislative Council of New South Wales, in Council assembled, beg leave to approach your Majesty with the renewed assurance of our attachment to your Majesty's Royal Person and Government.

We crave leave humbly to represent to your Majesty, that, according to the estimates for the year 1845, submitted for our adoption by His Excellency the Governor, it will be necessary to raise by general or local taxation the sum of £85,250 16s. 8d. for police, gaols, and the building of gaols, being at the rate of about 10s. 4d. per head on the entire population of the colony, whereas the whole expense of the Government of the Canadas does not exceed seven shillings a head, and were a similar rate of expenditure necessary in the United Kingdom a sum of not less than £11,000,000 would be required for these purposes alone.

That the Police and Gaol Expenditure of the colony for the nine years and a half ending the 31st December, 1844, since this charge was first imposed, amounts to the enormous sum of £957,810 5s. 2d.

That although, when this charge was first transferred from the Military Chest to the Colonial Treasury, in 1835, by direction of the Lords of the Treasury, it was assumed that it would not exceed £25,000 per annum; in the very first year afterwards it amounted to £41,693 9s. 1d; in the third year afterwards it attained its maximum of £135,132 8s. 4d., at very nearly which amount it continued stationary for the next two years, and it is still, notwithstanding the considerable reductions of last Session, estimated at the large sum of £85,250 16s. 8d. abovementioned.

That the number of convictions of persons arrived free or born in the colony, is in proportion to the number of convictions of persons arrived as convicts as 180 to 3900; that the former number contains a large proportion of expirees, and other freed persons, who have come from the sister colony of Van Diemen's Land, and cannot be distinguished from the rest of the free population; but that without taking into consideration this circumstance, which must cause a great addition to the annual amount of crime committed here, as a matter of mere dry arithmetical calculation, and without making any allowance whatever for the contagious example and influence of the convict and the freed on the free, instead of the colony being subjected to the payment of the abovementioned sum of £85,250 16s. 8d., it should not be rated at more than its fair proportion, viz., £26,921 7s. 2d.; whilst the Imperial Government is justly chargeable with the balance, viz., £58,329 9s. 6d., which arises exclusively from convicts, or freed persons who have been convicts, transported to these shores from the mother country, and for the benefit of the mother country alone.

That of the entire amount of £957,810 5s. 2d. thus paid by the colony for the above purposes, it will be observed, that only £302,371 13s. 2d. is its fair proportion, and that the balance of £655,438 12s. ought to have been paid out of the military chest.

That the judicial expenditure for the same period amounted to £302,310 6s. 3d., and that after deducting one third of the above amount for the civil administration of justice, and appropriating the balance of £201,540 4s. 2d., according to the foregoing scale of our criminal statistics, it results that £63,644 5s. 6d. of the last mentioned sum is properly chargeable to the colony, and the residue of £137,895 18s. 8d. to the mother country; and the sum of £31,782 16s. 9d., required for the judicial expenditure of 1845, being distributed in the same proportions, will leave £7,322 11s. 4d. chargeable to the former, for its share of the criminal administration of justice, and £15,865 17s. 2d. as the share of the latter.

That the necessity of providing out of colonial funds, so large an amount for the coercion and punishment of British criminals, is justly deemed by the colony, whose representatives we are, as one of its chief grievances; and the grievance is deemed the greater, inasmuch as the equivalent—which by solemn compact entered into in the year 1835, between the late Legislative Council and your Majesty's then Governor Sir Richard Bourke, K.C.B., under the authority of the Lords of the Treasury, viz., the surplus of your Majesty's casual and territorial revenues, after defraying the cost of immigration from the United Kingdom—has been withheld from the appropriation of the Legislative Council, at whose disposal it was then placed, in conformity with this compact, during the whole government of Sir George Gipps, Knight, not only, as far as we have been able to ascertain, without any authority, but as far as the official correspondence laid by His Excellency before us shows, in defiance of the positive directions of the Lords of the Treasury, and successive Secretaries of State.

We crave leave humbly to represent to your Majesty, that the enormous burden thus cast upon the colony, and continued without the promised equivalent, and the impossibility of adding to its weight without utter ruin to all the productive classes, altogether precludes us from attempting those moral, social, and physical ameliorations, which, were they possible, the public exigencies and welfare imperatively demand at our hands.

We beg leave humbly to represent to your Majesty,—

First. That we are thereby precluded from taking any effectual steps towards arresting the perpetuity of crime, by making adequate provision for the diffusion of education, the expense of which, in consequence of the scattered state of the population, would be far greater than in England.

Second. From establishing a cheap and uniform rate of postage, and the facilities for correspondence, and diffusion of information, which have been attended with such beneficial results in the mother-country.

Third. From appropriating any sufficient sum for the making or repairing of roads or bridges, and for other works of indispensable necessity in a new country like this, progressing rapidly in population, and possessing but few facilities for inland navigation.

That the imposition of the large amount in question is now felt to be the more burdensome and unjust, in consequence of the cessation of transportation and the abolition of assignment, which was the only redeeming principle of the Convict System, and indeed the main reason assigned by the Lords of the Treasury in 1835, for transferring this charge to the Colonial Treasury;—and in consequence also of the rapidly decreasing expenditure of the Military Chest for Military and Convict purposes, an expenditure which in 1839 was £309,058 2s. 3d., and in 1843 had fallen to £170,012 17s. 5d., including about £7,000 for the military expenditure in New Zealand.

That not only has the system of transportation and assignment, the supposed advantages of which led to the transfer of this charge from the Imperial to the Local Treasury, entirely ceased among us; but the colony has in fact since become the grand emporium, as it were, of the expirees, and other freed prisoners from Van Diemen's Land, to say nothing of the runaway convicts, who pass off under the guise of free persons, and it appears that orders have been issued by your Majesty's principal Secretary of State for the Colonies, that this vast influx of extraneous crime amongst us is to be further increased, by making this colony the receptacle also of the probation convicts transported from that colony to Norfolk Island.

That it will, we humbly trust, be obvious to your Majesty, that a large and rapid increase in our Police and Gaol expenditure must inevitably result to the colony from these causes without any countervailing advantage whatever.

That the impolicy and injustice of imposing so heavy a burden on this colony, will be the more apparent now that the inability of the sister colony, Van Diemen's Land, to sustain a similar charge has been admitted by the Governor of that colony, although in the full enjoyment of whatever benefits of cheap labour or otherwise are derivable from transportation; a large portion of the local expenditure connected with the convict system, and transferred to the local treasury of that colony at the same time the like charge was imposed upon us, is now of necessity defrayed from the military chest, and must without doubt, as it ought, be finally retransferred in that colony, as being a just and proper charge on your Majesty's Imperial Treasury.

Under the circumstances above stated, we humbly beseech your Majesty to be graciously pleased to recommend to Parliament, that the sum of £793,034 10s. 8d., so due to the colony for arrears of police, gaol, and judicial expenditure, justly chargeable on Imperial funds, and the further sum of £74,195 6s. 8d., being the annual amount still required for the due coercion and punishment of the convicts and freed population originally transported from Britain, be defrayed from the military chest; or, if your Majesty should deem it more advisable upon taking into your Majesty's most gracious consideration, that an adult population of 59,788 convicts of both sexes, have been transported to this colony from the United Kingdom since the period of its first establishment, the contaminating influence of which mass of crime is perpetually working on the rest of our population, amounting only at present to about 123,000 souls; and upon taking further into your Majesty's most gracious consideration the joint exigencies at the present time, of the United Kingdom and of this colony—in the former of which several millions of its people are subsisting on public and private charity, and in the latter of which there is such a deficiency of population and excess of food that thousands of sheep and cattle are destroyed weekly for their tallow and hides—it would in our humble opinion be of equivalent advantage to the payment of the said sum of £793,034 10s. 8d. that the like number, namely, 59,788 free emigrants of moral and industrious habits, and consisting of single persons of both sexes, or of young couples recently married, or of families with sons and daughters grown or nearly grown up, should be sent out to the colony in the next five years, with Parliamentary funds, provided that the said annual sum of £74,195 6s. 8d. be henceforth contributed by the Military Chest towards the support of Police and Judicial Expenditure, as being the fair proportion of that expenditure chargeable of right on the Imperial Treasury.

That in the event however of the alternative of sending out the above number of emigrants being preferred to a money reimbursement, it will, in our humble opinion be an indispensable adjunct to so large and sudden an accession to our population that a loan be raised in England on the security of the public lands of the colony, and under the guarantee of Parliament, of not less than £800,000, payable by five annual instalments of £160,000 each, to be spent in public roads, bridges, and other necessary internal improvements, under the appropriation of the Governor and Legislative Council, during the progress of such immigration, in order that if the various avenues of domestic industry should not suffice at once to absorb so large an addition to our numbers, adequate employment may be afforded by means of those public works which, in a rapidly progressing state of society, are constantly required to keep pace with the increase of population.

NEWS FROM THE INTERIOR.

(From our various Correspondents.)

WINDSOR.

Notwithstanding the apparent favourableness of the present season for the striving hard-working agriculturists, their labours have in many instances by unforeseen casualties been rendered abortive. The hay crop, though heavy and abundant, has been on numerous farms badly saved, in consequence of the almost unprecedented precariousness of the weather, the bright rays of the sun for two or three days inviting the farmer to begin mowing immediately; on commencing which his anxious expectations have been suddenly damped by a return of the showery weather which has been so prevalent during this season. Whilst on this subject it would not be irrelevant to remark on the want of foresight evinced by many of our settlers in not providing themselves with hay sheds, for want of which many a fine stack (I may say almost yearly) receives irreparable injury. No farm should be without them; they may with a little management be erected at a trifling expense, and are always found useful in the preservation of farm produce. In the latest crops of hay, the caterpillar has made great ravages, and even where it has been mowed immediately, on their being discovered, the quality of the hay will be seriously affected, inasmuch as it will never be thoroughly sweet, owing to the putridity of these destructive insects, which will all die and putrify in the stack on its beginning to sweat. The injury the crops of maize have sustained from them is enormous, a farmer residing on the South Creek has had a paddock planted with corn three times, and as often stripped by them, many have had their crops destroyed two or three times, and have been disheartened from planting again. The amount of injury they have perpetrated during the last fortnight is almost incredible. To form a just conception of the myriads upon myriads which meet the eye in every direction, and their powers of destructiveness they must be seen pursuing their work of devastation. Reaping is now going on in every quarter, and the weather is at present favourable with a prospect of its continuing so. It has for a time taken all the superfluous idle hands out of the town, which causes it to look rather dull; nobody is now heard complaining of a want of work. The price given for reaping varies from eight to twelve shillings per acre, and a rise is anticipated; the wet during the last week (when the wheat was just ripe), followed by the present fine weather, having caused it to ripen all at once, which combined with a dread of the rain overtaking them, has made the farmers very anxious to get their reaping done as quickly as possible, which will cause a corresponding competition amongst them in the labour market. With respect to the quality of the crop some persons are complaining much of the smut, and certain it is there is a great deal of it on some farms; but generally speaking the wheat in this district will turn out well. It was in too forward a state for the caterpillars to do it material damage.

Mr. James Upton, who was bit by a snake on Sunday week, is suffering much from its effects, which however may be in a great measure ascribed to his own indiscretion, he having very unadvisedly exerted himself much in his farming pursuits, which has caused his leg to become very bad.

A meeting of the District Council was held on Tuesday last, at which the Warden, also Councillors Cross and McQuade attended. No business was transacted.

At the Police office, on Tuesday, before William Cox and L. D. Whittaker, Esqrs., James Greenfield, of the Kurrajong, was charged on information by Mr. John Shirley, as agent for John Tindall, with unlawfully impounding a quantity of sheep and goats, the property of the said John Tindall. Mr. Carrington for the defence, objected to the information, contending that an agent could not prosecute; his objection being overruled, he called upon Mr. Shirley to prove his agency, which, not being able to do, the case was dismissed. The penalty sued for was £10, and Mr. Carrington stated to the Court that the defendant, who was but a poor man would be seriously inconvenienced had he to pay it, and as he could not afford to obtain professional assistance, he (Mr. Carrington) appeared for him gratuitously as amicus curiæ.

GENERAL EDUCATION.

The following address has been agreed to, and forwarded to Sydney:—

To the twelve members of the Honorable the Legislative Council who recorded their votes in opposition to the contemplated system of General Education.

Gentlemen,—We, the undersigned inhabitants of the town and neighbourhood of Liverpool, feeling grateful to you for the manly declaration of your principles, expressed during the recent debate on education in your Honorable House, beg to tender to you our sincere acknowledgments for having thus opposed a system of education, which, it is evident from the expression of public opinion made upon that occasion, is neither suitable to the wishes nor called for by the majority of the colony.

It is apparent that the proposed measure affects our religious liberties, by restricting us in the free use of the Scriptures in our schools, as well as excluding our clergy from the superintendence of the children under their care; we therefore feel ourselves bound to express our disapproval of such a measure.

Through your able and determined opposition in defence of these our rights, the adoption of the Report of the Committee on education has been virtually left unrecognised by the Legislative Council, and the proposed plan of a system of general education has been carried, only in a modified yet not less obnoxious form, and that by a majority of but one vote, which neither reflects honour on the cause, nor on the individual.

Although the petitions of twenty-five thousand persons have been treated with indifference by members of your honorable House, and our rights of conscience have been disregarded by them, we have still the satisfaction of bearing testimony to the zeal and ability with which you have opposed these proceedings, and have thus associated your names in our recollections with the cause of civil and religious liberty.

We subscribe ourselves, gentlemen, with unfeigned respect and gratitude, your obliged and obedient servants.

[Signed by sixty-three persons.]

BATHURST.

December 5.—The weather with us has been very variable and changeable for the last month past, sudden and frequent transitions from intense heat to extreme cold; such a season as the present has not been known here within the memory of the oldest resident; the result of this unsettled weather is that colds and coughs have become very prevalent.

The Mails.—We understand that through the indefatigable exertions of the contractor's man employed at this end of the road, no inconvenience will be experienced in Sydney from non-arrival of the mails from hence; the mail which should have left here on Thursday last, started by this man on horseback early on Friday morning, (as the carriage could not be then got over the river); he went through the whole distance to Penrith,' where he arrived the same night about eleven o'clock, and on Saturday morning about ten o'clock he arrived here with the return mail, having rode a distance of nearly 200 miles in little better than twenty-four hours; much praise is due to the man for performing so arduous a task in so short a time; the only inconvenience therefore that has been experienced, is that the mail due here on Friday did not arrive until Saturday; that day's mail to Sydney started in due course, and Sunday's mail came safely and duly to hand.

Wool Sales.—We wonder much in these times, when it behoves all men to look round in every direction, in which a shilling is to be made, that none of our auctioneers have started periodical sales for wool; we are strongly persuaded that such an arrangement would meet with encouragement; there are in this and the surrounding districts very many, that we should call small sheepholders, and whose clip for the year would amount perhaps from 3 or 4 to 7 or 8 bales, and we think that if such parties could be assured that their property would be submitted to fair competition, they would many of them prefer selling it here to incurring the expense of a trip to Sydney. There are wool buyers here we may be told; we are aware of this, and although some of these give within one penny per pound of the Sydney prices, and we really consider this a moderate profit including carriage and other incidental expenses; notwithstanding this we know that a strong prejudice exists with many of those small sheepowners, to selling their wool here, and many of them prefer taking it to Sydney, and going themselves to sell it; and by the time many of them return to Bathurst three-fourths of their money may be squandered away. By establishing wool sales here, we have no doubt many persons would avail themselves of the opportunity afforded of selling their property to the best advantage, on the spot; this subject is surely worthy of an experiment, and we trust some of our auctioneers will avail themselves of this hint.

Cricket.—A match came off on Saturday last, between 11 British, (English, Irish, and Scotch) against 11 Natives; after a spirited contest on both sides, the former won by two notches, having three wickets to go down.

The prisoners confined in the old gaol were on Monday last removed to the new one; we are much rejoiced at this, as the old gaol was truly a horrible place for the confinement of human beings. We understand there is much yet to be done to complete this building, but more of this anon. We would call the attention of the person whose business it may be to attend to these matters, to the circumstance of a flock of sheep having been for some time past depastured on the lands surrounding the township, which we always understood to be reserved for the use of cattle for domestic purposes belonging to the inhabitants of the township; we can recollect when a practice like this would not be suffered to exist for an hour before the sheep would be driven to the pound, and we trust that this system will meet with a speedy check; for if the evil is allowed to remain unchecked there is no knowing to what extent it may be carried; if one person be suffered to encroach this way, others may think they have an equal right, and ultimately there may not be a spot to graze a beast on, as it is a well-known fact, that cattle will not feed off land on which sheep have been recently depastured, and in the end we may be driven to a dependance on the bush for our supplies of milk and butter. We trust that this subject only requires to be named to have the abuse corrected.

A horse race came off on Monday last, near the White Horse Inn, between Mr. Declout's black horse and a powerful bay colt, the property of Mr. White; the match was easily won by Mr. Declout's black horse. Another match for £10 a side had been made, to come off the same day, between Mr. Coomber's horse Merrylegs, and Mr. Whitton's Zoreb colt; but in consequence of some accident to the latter he could not run, and Merrilegs walked over the course and won the bet for his owner.

Mr. Mead having expressed an intention of relinquishing his school, being about returning to Europe, a very excellent opportunity is open for any really clever person in the scholastic line.

QUEANBEYAN.

December 3.—The quarterly meeting of the District Council took place today. Present, the Warden (Dr. Murray), and Councillors Hall, Hayley, and Packer.

The Warden, in his opening address, said, "Gentlemen, at the last meeting of the District Council, I had the honour of proposing the appointment of a Committee to collect such information upon local statistics as would be required before we could proceed to the enactment of by-laws. That Committee met, and compiled the necessary data. It appears from the returns that there are in the district of Queanbyan 190,985 acres of located land, of which 2760 are in cultivation and 188,225 uncultivated. There are also about fifty rateable houses in the town of Queanbeyan, and three in the township of Bungendore. With respect to live stock, which is liable to assessment, as well as land, there are 1087 horses, 10,794 head of horned cattle, and 122,168 sheep. In taking a survey of the various objects which will have to engage the attention of the Council, and in making an estimate of the expenses the Council must necessarily incur in carrying these objects into effect, it appears that an assessment of one penny per acre would enable the Council, after defraying one half of the police expenses, to have a reserve fund of about £500 a year, to allot to the various other purposes which will demand attention, such as the salaries of officers, the establishment of schools, the repair of roads, and other objects of minor importance. Even with this small sum of £500 a year (and there is no reason why it should not be increased as the condition of the colony improves) the Council would be able to effect a great deal for the good of the district; especially by observing the same principles of prudence and economy which have characterised its proceedings hitherto, for I am happy to inform you that the whole of the liabilities incurred by the District Council of Queanbeyan do not exceed £20 5s. 8d."

Mr. Hall was of opinion that application should be made to the Government to defray the pecuniary liabilities incurred by the council, it being the opinion of counsel in Sydney that the District Councils do not possess the power to levy.

The Warden observed that this was a disputed point, but that the wisest course would be to abstain from levying until the question was no longer doubtful. At the same time, he begged to call the attention of members to the enactment of some of the by-laws as likely to facilitate the future duties of the Council.

Mr. Hall said, he was opposed to the passing of any of the by-laws, until there existed a power of enforcing them; and as he was of opinion that the very best thing the Council could do would be to do nothing, he begged to move "that this Council do adjourn sine die."

Mr. W. J. Packer said, he perfectly agreed with Mr. Hall in the sentiments he had expressed, and begged to second the motion of adjournment.

Mr. W. F. Hayley briefly observed that it would be desirable to postpone the enactment of the by-laws until there was a more full attendance of the Council.

The Warden then put Mr. Hall's motion of adjournment to the vote, which was carried by a majority, and the Council accordingly adjourned.
